

Now that you have brainstormed all kinds of action to take, think about the hierarchy of authority that you can use to change things:

For example: first you might go to your parents.

If you don't get the results you wanted from them, you might go to your teachers.

If you don't get the results you wanted from them, you might go to:

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

7.

8.

9.

10.

In your group brainstorm things you would like changed in your community, state, nation or world:

1. We ought to have bike trails through the center of town.

2. The death penalty should be illegal
